★★★★½

According to this user, Arcoro HR is both easy to use and customizable to their needs.

"Very user friendly. Nothing's perfect but ArcoroHR is pretty close! Employees are diligent about clocking in and out in order to get paid! I love that we can customize reports to get exactly the info that we need. It's also very helpful to provide documentation of hours worked for our customers."

Arcoro HR's geolocation features give this accounting manager peace of mind when processing payroll.

"The geolocation tool has helped our company tremendously. With this tool, we can easily keep track of where the employees are when clocking in and out of projects. As we do not always have a high-level individual on-site with them, this tool has allowed for ease of mind when processing their payroll."

> ## Arcoro HR saved this business owner thousands of dollars.

"When I took over this company 5 years ago they were clocking in on an old punch card machine. This was not an efficient use of time or money for something as simple and important as tracking time worked. Switching to Arcoro HR has saved me thousands of dollars over the years calculating payroll. I can't put a price on the headache it has saved me!"

> ## This user is so happy with Arcoro HR, they recommend it to their colleagues.

"We have recommended [Arcoro HR] to at least two other colleagues. It helps to prevent dishonest time keeping. Manual timekeeping by a supervisor seems to create a lot of room for errors including forgetfulness of who showed up and when. It's nice to be able to track when each employee is working or how many people are on each worksite."
